DISCREDITABLE CONDUCT.

A lady has complained of the misconduct of some hackmen. The lady, with her family, went to the ball at the Palace last night in her own private carriage, and sent the horse and carriage home in charge of her Chinese servant, with instructions for him to return with the vehicle at a certain hour. He did so, and while waiting at the Palace gate, along with several public hacks, the drivers of some of the latter embraced the opportunity to cause every possible annoyance to the Chinaman. They threw dirt into the carriage, whipped the horse, and did sundry other things; for what reason, is not apparent, unless because a Chinaman was in charge. Such conduct merits more than censure; the guilty parties deserve punishment of a severer nature.

MR. H. H. SIMPSON.

It is known to our readers that Mr. Harry H. Simpson, the business manager of the baseball people expected by the Alameda next Saturday, arrived by the Australia last Tuesday, and is now here preparing for their coming. During the few days that Mr. Simpson has been in Honolulu he has won the good opinion of all with whom he has had dealings, and the esteem and friendship of those with whom he has associated. He is a gentleman of quiet and unassuming demeanor, and of strictly temperate habits. Mr. Simpson is an all-round baseball, foot ball and cricket player. He will play on Saturday next, not with the American players, but with the local team. Mr. Simpson is practising daily with our own players, and it is confidently believed that they will make an exhibition on Saturday of which we shall not be ashamed.

NEWSPAPERS REPRESENTED.

The baseball players and the tourists accompanying them, due here by the Alameda next Saturday, have among them representatives of the following leading American papers: New York World, Boston Globe, St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia Press, Philadelphia Sporting Life, Chicago Times, Boston Herald, New York Press, Chicago Evening Journal, Outing Magazine, New York Sun, Chicago Herald, San Francisco Chronicle, St. Louis Globe-Democrat, New York Herald, and Chicago News.

These papers have millions of readers in the United States, and besides they circulate, more or less, in every country of the civilized world. Their respective representatives will undoubtedly furnish them full particulars, not only of the day's baseballing here, but also of matters in general which enter into the day's experience. Let us give the party a reception which will compel them to think, speak, and write well of us.

COOKPHOBIA.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—The disease of Cookphobia is peculiar to the Hawaiian Islands, and is supposed to be produced from an inordinate use of bean diet in this warm climate. The symptoms are spasmodic efforts to rush into print with vain attempts to cast unfounded odium upon the memory of the celebrated navigator and discoverer, Captain Cook, who was killed in Hawaii about a hundred years ago. It is fortunate that Cookphobia is harmless and non-infectious. The shafts of its victims are leveled against the honored dead, as the memory of Captain Cook is revered wherever the English language is spoken; not only for his important geographical discoveries, but also for his generous and humane character and the benefits to science which he and his able officers rendered.

The first man on the Hawaiian Islands infected with Cookphobia, to any prominent extent, was one Jarvis, who ignored the authorized narratives of Cook's voyages written by the shipmates of the distinguished navigator. This Jarvis wrote a mixture of tradition and fancy which he called Hawaiian history; and, being severely affected with Cookphobia, he lost himself in myth and invective describing Cook as the opposite of what all authorities substantiate by the best of proofs.

Since Jarvis' time this peculiar disease has obtruded itself occasionally, and it invariably appears in association with other morbid conditions of the brain.

On the average there have been three or four cases of Cookphobia each year since Jarvis wrote, and the present year has produced its full share of rabid writers upon this worn-out theme. As I said above, the disease is harmless, inasmuch as no injury can be done to the dead; but Cookphobia is at the same time, a misfortune to its victim, because it is the outcome of a mental malady that is liable to take a more dangerous turn.

In a warm climate like that of the Hawaiian Islands, the victim of Cookphobia should especially abstain from bean diet as it causes "wind upon the brain," and is a faithful source of those symptoms which indicate the presence of a disease under notice. M. D.

THE AUSTRALIA.

The Oceanic Company's steamship Australia sailed at noon for San Francisco with a fair cargo and passenger list. A number of the departing passengers wore leis and the Hawaiian band enlivened the proceedings with appropriate musical selections.

MOLOKAI NOTES.

Mr. C. B. Reynolds, the new superintendent at the leper settlement, came down from there Saturday morning. He has prepared the "Bishop Home" and three sisters now occupy it, and are pleased with the arrangements. The reservoir and 830 feet of water pipe were totally carried away on the 8th inst.

It is understood that the reservoir was carried away by a cloud burst at the head of Waikolu Valley, as the water washed away a bridge which was over 18 feet high and 70 feet long. The water at present is being brought to the settlement in carts. To-day the lepers will have a temporary supply through a one-inch pipe. It is expected that a spring on one side of the mountain will have to be utilized. Within a month the work will be completed.

THE LATE FATHER GREGORY.

Following is a brief notice of the Rev. Father Gregory Archambour of the Roman Catholic Mission, who died at Kakako, Honolulu, on the 12th inst.

The Reverend Father Gregory Archambour was born in France on the 27th of November, 1819. He came to the Islands in 1848, and arrived at Honolulu on the 28th of April. Sent by his superiors to the Island of Hawaii, he remained there several years, during which he attended to the spiritual wants of the people of both districts of Kohala and Hamakua, having to walk and carry on his back a little chapel-box containing all that was necessary to celebrate, everywhere he had to go, the holy sacrifice of the mass.

From Hawaii he passed to the Island of Maui in 1853. It is there that his apostolical zeal and Christian charity were unbounded, when, during the raging of the small pox, he was seen going all around Koolau, Hana, Kipahulu, Kaupo and Kahikini, discharging with remarkable activity towards the poor victims of the plague the sacred duties of his holy ministry, attending also their corporeal wants, even to burying the dead.

He is the servant to whom his Lord has said: "Well done thou good and faithful servant, because thou hast been faithful over a few things I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."—(St. Matthew xxv, 23.) F. C.

THE SILBONS.

This evening the famous Silbon troupe will give a special performance at the Hawaiian Opera House for the joint benefit of Moulton and Dashway and the Dale Brothers. On this occasion the Silbons will introduce their beautiful Roman studio act of living models of marble gems. This is something that in itself ought to draw a full house. New pantomimes will also be introduced. The box plan is now open at the auction room of L. J. Levey.

To-morrow afternoon the company will give a grand matinee performance at 2:30 o'clock.

NAALEHU, HAWAII, NOTES.

An earthquake, the heaviest shock felt here since that of January, 1887, occurred on the 8th instant, at 6:10 o'clock in the evening. A short tremor, then an explosion resembling that of the bursting of a canon instantly followed. The vibrations seemed from the north-east to south-west, or nearly so. Aside from a little damage done to things tossed from shelves and the throwing down of stone walls, no damage was done. A second shock, a light one, was felt at 3 o'clock the following morning, since which time things in this line have remained in a quiescent state.

It is one hundred years, since the discovery of these Islands. They have withstood during those long years many severe shocks from the conflicting elements within them and although showing many terror inspiring scars, yet survive. This ought to satisfy timid people who visit them that there is no danger of being swallowed up, for the probability is that these rock-ribbed islands, cradled amid billows of fire, will continue to live in the arms of the ocean for ages to come, with their lava furrowed brows still wreathed with the rainbow of promise, and with mother nature herself still watching over these her restless and too fiery tempered offspring.
